

Was Officer Drowned After Fight on Boat?

Healthy Elevator Engineer to Be Questioned Regarding Mysterious Disappearance of Customs Officer.

Detroit, Aug. 6 (AP).—Faced with possible federal charge of murder in the high seas, John M. Heath, healthy elevator engineer, and his wife, Mrs. Maxine Heath, were expected to surrender to federal authorities today for questioning in connection with the disappearance early Saturday of C. D. Sandlands, customs inspector who boarded their luxurious cabin cruiser because of violation of navigation laws.

Heath communicated with federal officers through his attorney last night and admitted he left the customs agent floating in the water during a fight which both men fell into the water from the deck of the boat. Heath swam back to his craft, the Maxine, he said, and saw no more of Sandlands.

A report to Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs, by a companion officer of Sandlands, Milton Larsen, differed from the story related by Heath's attorney, however, and the customs office today still listed the absent patrolman only as "missing."

Max H. Finkelstein, Heath's attorney, said Sandlands boarded the Heath craft in mid-stream and without identifying himself attempted to force Heath to dock at an east side mooring spot. Because of the presence of several men on the deck, Finkelstein said, Heath feared he was to be hijacked or his wife harmed, and after Sandlands and his companion in a speedboat alongside the Maxine had refused for the third time to show their badges Heath grappled with the boarder.

Both men fell into the water, according to Heath's account, and when Sandlands loosened his grasp the customsman swam back to his craft and speeded out of range of possible gunfire as rapidly as possible. He said no further attention to the man in the water, Finkelstein said because he believed he would have no trouble reaching shore or boarding his own boat.

Larsen, who worked with Sandlands on a fast cruiser patrolling the river, in a report to Petty said Sandlands boarded the Maxine because Heath was known to have left a Canadian port without clearance papers. The Maxine was tied up at a dock on the east side of the city, Larsen declared, and Sandlands remained aboard the craft with Mr. and Mrs. Heath while Larsen went to telephone to the customs base for instructions.

When he returned a few minutes later Larsen said the boat was gone. Fishermen in the vicinity concerned Larsen's report that the Maxine was tied to the dock and said the craft was pushed out into the stream soon after Larsen went ashore from his own boat, sailing downstream without lights.

MACADAM FOR SINKING
ROAD NEAR KERHONKSON

That portion of the Ellenville-Kerhonkson highway west of Kerhonkson, known as "The Slide," will not be paved with concrete as the rest of the stretch, because quicksand causes the roadbed to sink at various times. Macadam will be used instead, according to B. V. Roach, one of the state engineers in charge of concreting the highway.

No one has been able to solve the problem of keeping the road from giving way to the quicksand, although state engineers have tried many ways. Macadam is to be used because if the road sinks, more of the material can be dumped into the depression at a lower cost than re-roping the thoroughfare with concrete.

$425,000 WORTH OF SHARES
SOLD WITHOUT DELIVERY

Chicago, Aug. 6 (AP).—J. B. Greenfield, Chicago stock and bond broker, was sought in Detroit today on a warrant charging embezzlement.

Records of the J. B. Greenfield and Company offices were seized by Assistant State's Attorney Arthur Carlsen after investigation of complaints that the concern defrauded customers out of more than $500,000.

Carlsen examined the company's books and said he found $425,000 worth of shares had been sold without delivery.

51st Pioneer Meeting.
Members of the 51st Pioneer Infantry Association will hold a meeting in the armory on Wednesday night, August 7, at 7:30 for the purpose of making final plans for the big reunion to be held here on Sunday, August 18. All committee chairmen are requested to be present and make a report. A large attendance is desired.

Delegates to County Convention.
Following are the delegates from the second district of the Second ward to the Ulster County Republican convention to be held Saturday at 11 o'clock at the Auditorium theatre: Frank B. Matthews, William A. Alexander, George A. Richardson.

Confiscate Slot Machines.
Troopers descended upon hotels and boarding houses in Fleischmanns Sunday night and confiscated 13 slot machines, the contents of which totaled $215. Fines of $50 were imposed upon each offender.

Prospects of Bloody Tong War

Killings in Chicago, Newark, Boston and New York—Several Wounded—Wholesale Deportations Threatened.

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Prospects of one of the bloodiest tong wars in years were seen today. Additional killings in this city and Boston brought the dead to five in two days in addition to several wounded.

A few hours after United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle and Samuel Sung Young, Chinese consul general, had warned tong leaders here that no violence would be tolerated pending a peace conference today, a Harlem laundryman was shot and killed at his ironing board.

In Boston two Chinese were shot and killed within a few hours after tong leaders had assured the police there would be no long warfare in that city. Police officials said it was the first time tong leaders had deliberately deceived them and expressed the belief the killings would result in the bloodiest tong war ever seen.

In Chicago and Newark, N. J., where the killings started with one death each on Sunday, a tense quiet prevailed.

The cause of the outbreak remained a mystery. One theory was that it was over the rice liquor trade, which was said to have become quite profitable with the deteriorating quality of other bootleg liquor. At Newark it was thought the war might be over the opium trade, $50,000 worth of the drug having been seized in that city Saturday.

Mr. Tuttle's call for a conference was issued yesterday after Sing On Jun, a restaurant proprietor in Harlem, had been wounded. A white woman employed in his kitchen also was shot.

Last night Chin Lee, a Harlem laundryman, was shot and killed as he worked as his ironing board.

After a conference yesterday with Young and representatives of the rival gangs, Mr. Tuttle let it be known that if the warfare was not stopped in New York at once wholesale deportations of Chinese would result.

Auto Club Drive For Membership

Ulster County Automobile Club Plans to Hold Membership Drive in County Commencing August 15.

A drive to increase the membership of the Ulster County Automobile Club will be inaugurated in Ulster county on August 15, and will be continued for thirty days.

The club is anxious to increase its membership, and has fixed as its goal two thousand members.

Since its organization the club has been an advocate for good roads in Ulster county, and at its headquarters at the Governor Clinton Hotel it maintains a touring service where members of the club may obtain information in regard to the road conditions not only in Ulster county but in the surrounding territory.

Over twenty-two service garages are located in various localities in Ulster county, not only to take care of the members of the local club but also of all members of the A. A. A.

Fake Licenses At $2,000 Each

Chicago, Aug. 6 (AP).—The inside story of how a diploma and license mill printed spurious certificates and state seals was told last night by a man who admitted, state's attorney's investigators said, that he had made photostatic copies of the originals for counterfeit plates.

The story, Patrick Roche, chief investigator said, would result in new arrests and indictments immediately. Several Chicago printing and engraving firms were said to have been named.

Jacob Crane, formerly a printer of Springfield, Ill., was seized on information supplied by Albert Carr, one of seven men already indicted in the case.

Crane, according to Roche, said that diplomas of the Rush Medical College, the Northwestern University Medical School and the University of Wisconsin Medical School were forged, as well as interne's certificates from the Cook county (Chicago) hospital and Illinois state licenses and seals.

So thorough was the mill, Roche said, that applicants without college education could purchase diplomas and state licenses, both apparently bona fide, to practice in Illinois and elsewhere. More than 1,000 fake licenses are said to have been sold for approximately $2,000 each, and diplomas at a still higher price.

Asks Investigation in Westchester.
New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Possibility of an unofficial investigation by someone appointed by Governor Roosevelt into appropriation by the Westchester county board of supervisors of $348,000 for purchase of a court house annex site in Tonawanda was today by political observers.

Captain Terrence Brady of Tonawanda has sent two telegrams to the governor requesting the investigation. It is his contention that the property the supervisors would pay nearly a million for is not worth half that sum.

Many Agencies Working to Make Fair a Success

The officials of the Ulster County Fair are making every effort to have the best fair that Ulster county has ever had. They have added the Hon. Millard Davis and Fred DuBois of New Paltz, to its board of directors.

The premium lists have been revised and everything is being done to encourage farmers to exhibit their livestock and produce.

The officials are receiving the support of numerous organizations. Several Granges have been planning exhibits of some time. The competition will undoubtedly be keen in these displays among the different Granges.

The Ulster County Holstein Club was quite influential in having the cattle premium list revised. The classes are now sub-divided the same as at all large fairs. This is much more satisfactory and equitable to all entrants. There is no doubt that the entire dairy barn will be completely filled. There is also a probability that the Holstein Club will also have an exhibit at the fair.

The poultry show has been and unquestionably will be as good as any found at county fairs. Ulster county should feel proud of its poultry industry. Some of the best stock in the state will be found here. The competition is very keen in this department.

For the first time a tent will be provided for the 4-H exhibits, where they will exhibit vegetables, poultry and calves.

The Farm Bureau is also interested in the fair. It is cooperating with the various agencies making exhibits. The manager is superintendent of the 4-H Club department and is also active in the poultry department.

With all the above agencies working harmoniously there is no reason why the county fair should not be a huge success. Everyone is invited to visit displays and become familiar with the quality of livestock and produce grown in Ulster county.

TRENCH BURIAL IN CALVARY AS STRIKE CONTINUES

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Temporary burial of the dead in trenches reminiscent of war times was resorted to today at Calvary cemetery at Queens where a week-old strike of grave diggers resulted in an accumulation of 600 bodies.

Since the start of the strike bodies have been placed in the cemetery temporary receiving vaults which have accommodation for nearly 1,000 bodies. Under the law, a body must be buried within four days after death and over the week end men were placed at work digging three long trenches.

Forty bodies were placed in the temporary trenches yesterday and arrangements made for the burial of twenty-five more today. It was announced that after settlement of the strike the bodies would be reburied in the family plots.

Efforts to arbitrate the strike, which started shortly after the discharge of a chauffeur, were under way today between the strikers and members of the cemetery board of trustees. Between 600 and 700 men are involved. They have demanded recognition of their union and an increase in salary from an average of $24.20 a week to $7 a day with double time Sundays.

SAYS GANGSTERS AND GUNMEN CONTROL CHICAGO BUSINESS.

University, Va., Aug. 6 (AP).—Gangsters and gunmen control the destinies of more than nine necessary economic industries in Chicago, says John Landesco, research director for the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, Chicago.

"Al Capone, overlord of organized crime in the Chicago region," Mr. Landesco said, "now a stockholder in a business enterprise, insures it 'best protection in the world.'"

"The police, state's attorney and courts," he adds, "are failing to maintain law and order in the fields of labor and business, as they have failed to repress outlawed activities of gambling, vice, bootlegging and robbery."

Apathy in law enforcement over a long period as well as the breeding in the slums of a low order of man adaptable readily to the uses of the gang were alluded to by Landesco as elements behind organized vice.

MISS LOUISE HINKEL HAS SKULL FRACTURE

Miss Louise Hinkel of New York city, who was injured in an auto accident on Sunday, sustained a slight fracture of the skull, an X-ray taken Monday at the Kingston Hospital showed. Her condition today was reported as being fairly good.

She was riding in the car of Paul A. Fisher of Briarwood Lodge at Maple Hill, which was in collision with the car of Frederick A. Wagner of Brooklyn, at Wall and Henry streets Sunday evening.

View of Hudson in Oils.

One of the group of oil paintings displayed in Gregory & Company's window at 651 Broadway, supposed to have been painted by Joseph Tubory, former Kingston resident, is a scene of the Hudson River painted from the high point above Kingston Point. The paintings are now being sold in behalf of a former Kingstonian.

Agents Raid Grocery Store Of Alvin Wood

Large Quantity of Alleged Whiskey Seized in Store Located at Circus Ground—Two Other Places Raided.

Federal agents from the local office paid a visit to the grocery store of Alvin Wood at 591 Washington avenue on Monday and made a precursory raid on a large stock of alleged alcoholic beverages.

The agents executed a search warrant on the premises and discovered a large quantity of alleged whiskey, cider and 14 cases of home brew beer. The beer was taken into the backyard and destroyed on the premises while a crowd of about 150 spectators watched the operation.

The Wood premises are located at the entrance to the circus grounds and directly across the street from Bethany chapel. From the stock of goods discovered by the agents it was found that the store had been well provided for.

Mr. Wood was arrested and arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Arthur C. Connelly where bail in the sum of $500 was provided pending a hearing set for August 20.

Blue Bird Inn Raided.
Next on the list came the Blue Bird Inn of Jack Vandy at 43 Murray street. Jack has received several visits from the agents during the past few months and Monday's visit was the third this year. In various places about the bar-room the agents found concealed small quantities of alleged whiskey and also a quantity of home brew. When the hidden stuff had been collected there was a considerable amount.

During the raid at the place Joe Wolcott, former welterweight champion of the world, who is employed in town, entered the premises. He was not placed under arrest by the agents who arrested Vandy and held him for a hearing later today. In view of the previous record of Vandy in all probabilities the bail demanded by the agents in his case will be of a considerable amount.

Visit Bloomington.
Passing on to the town of Rosendale the agents paid their next visit at the inn of Michael Beyersdorfer at Bloomington at the junction of the Whiteport-Bloomington road. There the agents made a purchase of alleged whiskey and Beyersdorfer was placed under arrest on a charge of possession and sale. When the agents entered the place and asked for liquor the proprietor apparently was out of liquor and dispatched an employee to some hidden source and the supply was soon at hand. A quantity of alleged apple whiskey was seized by the agents as evidence.

When Beyersdorfer is arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Connelly Wednesday it is anticipated at least $1,500 bail will be demanded since the violation of which he is charged comes under the Jones law and is a serious offense under the law.

11 Dangerous Drug Addicts Are at Large

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6 (AP).—Deputy sheriffs and other peace officers were making an extensive search today for 11 of 16 narcotic addicts who escaped from the state hospital at Spadra near here during the riot Sunday night.

Three were in the county jail here and another was in the custody of his father, while the fifth was captured in a road near the hospital shortly after his escape Sunday night.

The outbreak started soon after the order of "lights out" for the night had been given. The rioting spread from ward to ward until hospital authorities were forced to call for help.

Deputy sheriffs responded and soon quieted the rioters. The outbreak was said to have been caused by the intense craving for narcotics by the ring leaders. They failed to break into the hospital stores, however, it was reported.

Earl E. Jensen, director of the institution, said the main trouble was caused by the fact that the courts sentenced felons who had the drug habit to the institution instead of the penitentiaries "where they should be sent."

Jensen declared that those who escaped were dangerous persons and not the type who wanted to rid themselves of the drug habit.

21 BURT WHEN ELEVATOR FALLS SEVEN STORIES

New York, Aug. 6 (AP).—Twenty-one persons, five of them women, were injured when an elevator fell from the seventh floor of a mid-town loft building to the basement today. Two of the injured were said to be in a serious condition.

The loaded elevator had just reached the seventh floor level when without warning it started back down. The crash against the cushion springs as it hit the bottom of the shaft attracted the attention of a patrolman outside the building, who called ambulances and then helped extricate the injured.

Several of the passengers, all of whom were from New York, suffered broken bones, and all suffered contusions and lacerations.

Refuel Graf Zeppelin for Return Journey

Work of refueling and replenishing the German transatlantic dirigible (Graf Zeppelin) went forward today in preparation for her departure at midnight tomorrow on the last leg of a globe-circling air voyage.

Dr. Hugo Eckener will leave the giant air liner back to her home port, Friedrichshafen, Germany, whence she arrived Sunday. From there the airship will continue eastward around the world, with stops at Tokyo and Los Angeles, Lakehurst, and back to Germany, a total of 22,000 miles.

On the flight to Friedrichshafen, the Graf Zeppelin has booked 18 passengers, some of whom have made reservations for the world tour. She also will carry freight and mail.

Three passengers have been booked for the trip around the world by the Hamburg-American Line, American agents for the Zeppelin.

The payload for the world trip is expected to bring $500,000, half the cost of the airship's construction. Of this 15 passengers paying $5,000 each will bring $750,000, while mail and freight, which Dr. Eckener said are more profitable, will bring considerably more.

Dr. Eckener said the voyage around the world would be as safe as though the passengers travelled on an ocean liner. He said the greatest danger was from famine, in case the ship was unable to land before her provisions were exhausted.

He said the worst part of the trip would be the first part of the flight from Friedrichshafen to Tokyo, as they might encounter clouds and rain while crossing the mountains of Siberia.

ADMIRAL ACROBAT TILL ONE SMASHED SHOWCASE

Chicago, Aug. 6 (AP).—Acrobats had always held a fascination for John Ritter. He was one person who went to vaudeville shows early and stayed late in hopes of seeing them perform.

So, when the Arabian acrobat, Mohammed Benwagman, appeared at Ritter's Drug Store last night with a headache and a story of having stood upside down too long, it was natural for Ritter to become sympathetic and to readily accept the proposal that Mohammed do his act in return for headache tablets.

Under the admiring eyes of the druggist, Mohammed turned back flips, stood on his head and hands, executed his other tricks. Finally, with Ritter cheering him on, he started on his finale, the trick, as he told the druggist in Arabian accent, "that's gonna wow 'em."

From the back he started, gathering speed with every step. As he neared the camera counter he leaped into the air, over and over he went, gracefully clearing the center aisle toilet goods display. The druggist was already applauding when a loud crash halted his cheers. Mohammed had landed in the candy showcase.

His most remarkable feat of the evening was reaching the door ahead of the druggist.

"Come back here," Ritter shouted. "Bring back those tablets, you're no good."

"Neither are the tablets," returned the fleeing acrobat, "my head still aches."

PORCUPINE'S ANGER LEADS TO FINDING LOST PARTY.

North Bay, Ont., Aug. 6 (AP).—A porcupine today unwittingly led to the rescue of a woman and seven children lost for hours in a dense wood while berry picking.

Mrs. Herbert Sparling, her three children and four of a neighbor woman left on a berry picking trip early yesterday. When they failed to return at sundown alarm was felt and a wide search started in which more than fifty men participated.

Shortly after one o'clock this morning searchers discovered them making their way along a road south of here. They said they had entirely lost their direction until a dog with the party aroused the ill nature of a porcupine which sent a barrage of quills into the campers' nose. Howling with pain the dog set off for home and the party followed.

CITY SCHOOL TAXES NOW PAYABLE TO CITY TREASURER.

The city school tax bills are now due and should be paid at the office of the city treasurer at the city hall. The first of the month all tax bills were mailed out and City Treasurer T. T. Smith said today that if any taxpayer has not received his tax bill he should tell the city treasurer as all bills were mailed to the last known address. Since the mailing of the last bills many taxpayers have changed their address.

ONE FIREMAN MISSING SIX OTHERS INJURED

Buffalo, Aug. 6 (AP).—One fireman was reported missing and six others were injured as an ice house collapsed during a fire this morning which destroyed three buildings used for storing and manufacturing ice.

Firemen had fought the blaze nearly four hours and it was believed to have been checked when the walls of the building caved in.

Democrats Will Have Candidates

According to Politician Who Claims to Know What Is Going on in His Party—Those Mentioned.

Now that the political party has commenced to hold there is considerable talk about the city streets as to who will be the candidates for the various offices at the fall election. One Democratic politician who claims to know what is going on in his party maintains that Night Jailor Jacob V. Merrishew will be the Democratic choice again for the office of sheriff. Mr. Merrishew has served as supervisor from the town of Olive and was once the party choice for the office of sheriff but was defeated. Under Sheriff Rice Mr. Merrishew has been night jailor and probably will run as the successor to Mr. Rice.

For mayor there seems to be some doubt as to just how many candidates will go into the Democratic county convention. Three candidates have been known to express a willingness to serve the city as its next mayor if elected. The name of Eugene B. Carey, once a candidate for county clerk, has been presented and it is also rumored that Supervisor Harry Clearwater of the 11th ward had his eyes turned on the mayoralty and may be a prominent figure before the city convention, however the man who probably will be handed the nomination on the part of the Democratic party is William B. Martin who served as alderman of the twelfth ward for several years and was also city assessor. Mr. Martin is known to be in a very receptive mood and has had his eyes on the mayoralty for a number of years.

When that office was one of honor or one and not one of salary. In the event that Mr. Martin is the candidate for the office of Mayor the selection of the party for alderman at large will be from the downtown section of the city. Alderman Mann and Alderman Clare have been mentioned as candidates.

Bernard A. Culliton will receive the nomination for City Judge if it is rumored.

Negro Died While Driving His Auto

Guido Porter, 36, of Ulster Park, Seized With Heart Attack While at Wheel of His Auto on Ferry Street.

Guido Porter, 36, a negro residing at Ulster Park, was seized with a heart attack at 12:55 o'clock this morning while driving his automobile, and died almost immediately.

Seizing with Porter were William Reid of Ulster Park and Mrs. Bernard Henry of 157 Abell street. Porter was turning from East Street into Ferry street, when suddenly he slumped forward in the driver's seat and his hands fell from the steering wheel, and the auto crashed into a switchstand on the Ulster & Delaware railroad tracks.

The Kingston Hospital was notified and Dr. Krom responded as did the city ambulance from police headquarters. Porter, however, was dead when Dr. Krom examined him.

Coroner W. Norman Conner was notified and his verdict was that death was due to a heart attack. He ordered the body turned over to Undertaker James V. Halloran.

The "Tears of St. Lawrence" Aug. 11

Philadelphia, Aug. 6 (AP).—The beautiful "Tears of St. Lawrence," as the Perseid meteor showers sometimes are called, are due for their annual visitation to earth Sunday night, August 11.

The best time to look for them is between midnight and dawn, in direction of the Constellation Perseus. Their "radiant," the position from which they come, rises in the northeast shortly after dark, and is not far from directly overhead at dawn.

The name "Tears of St. Lawrence" was given them by Irish peasantry more than a century ago. Astronomical records identify them first about 1,100 years ago.

"Of all the annual showers they are the most certain to return with average richness," said Dr. Charles P. Olivier. "While quite numerous from August 5 to 15, yet from August 10 to 13 one is certain to see large numbers, particularly after midnight. Many of the perseids have very bright and enduring trails."

In 1921 one observer counted 250 in one hour on the early morning of August 12.

CASES IN POLICE COURT BEFORE JUDGE SHUFELDT.

William Turnell of Lyndeville, who was arrested Monday for public intoxication, was fined $5 in police court today by Judge Shufeldt.

Edward J. Cochrane of 151 Pine street, arrested for speeding while driving a big passenger bus on Albany avenue, had his hearing adjourned until later.

John Lockman of Schoenewad was given five days in jail. He was arrested for having no visible means of support.

Myron F. Kitchner of 167 Abell street, arrested for passing a red traffic light, received a suspended sentence.

Republican Ward Caucus Results in City

Ward caucuses were held in each of the wards of the city Monday evening by the members of the Republican party at which time five delegates to attend the city convention to be held at the court house on August 12 at 8 p. m., were named. The caucuses called for a 3 o'clock Monday evening were held in each ward and recommendations for supervisor and alderman of the ward were made by the caucuses.

The city convention will be called at the court house next Monday evening at 8 o'clock at which time there will be recommended to the enrolled voters of the city candidates for the office of mayor, alderman at large and judge of the city court.

Results of the caucuses in the various wards of the city Monday evening were as follows:

Alderman—Alex Ostrander.
Delegates—Henry L. Dittus, Alex Ostrander, Albert Vogel, Nicholas Stock, Jr., C. R. Rowland.

Eighth Ward.
Supervisor—Frank O'Reilly.
Alderman—Harry Hutton.
Delegates—Louis Kaplan, John Monroe, John Finerty, John Herman, Harry Hutton.

Ninth Ward.
Supervisor—William Moyle.
Alderman—James T. O'Reilly.
Delegates—N. D. J. Murphy, Dwight McEntee, Amos McCreery, J. W. Salzman, Loretta O'Reilly.

Tenth Ward.
Supervisor—Chester A. Baltz.
Alderman—Joseph A. Joyce.
Delegates—Frank Boss, Ira Britt, Oscar Wolf

Counted by the Editors of "CHILDREN,
THE PARENTS' MAGAZINE"

It was in any event a most striking exhibition and that it was appreciated was testified to by the vociferous applause, laughter and comments of the crowd that had gathered for the more serious purpose of performing its civic duty.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Ferno

A DEEP, DARK POOL

THIS is before that last before the church clock chimed 10, Captain Despard was cautiously approaching the old mill. In the stillness of the night he gazed upon its ruins and the deep, dark, silent pool beyond it.

For some while he stood there motionless; then, hearing a faint rustle within the forbidding gloom, he stepped forward, hand on sword. Suddenly from behind leaped two dim forms with arms aloft, merciless arms that fell only to rise again.

Captain Despard reeled blindly, uttered a groan and, swaying aside, plunged over and down—down into the hungry depths of that sombre

CHAPTER II

"So there . . . you are at last, John!" cried a hoarse voice. "Bear a hand, will ye? Get him indoors and to bed. Hot blankets and a compress to the cut in 'a head, then send for Samson. . . . Did the man Wentzelow come in?"

"Ay, sir, the word was Fallow-dee Wood at 12 o'clock."

"Then I shall be late, it seems. . . . Can you manage him alone, John?"

"Lord, yes, your honour. I'll be the poor gentleman sang abed in no time."

Then, holding in the shadow of high hedge, Sir Richard watched sturdy John tramp on, carrying his burden with a surprising ease. He now turned back amid sombre trees and dense brushwood, hasting on his trackless way.

He had gone some distance, when from adjacent thicket an owl hooted. Sir Richard whistled softly and moved on until he reached a small glade, then Wentzelow hailed him softly.

"Lord, brother, such din! I hears ye 'alf a mile off, I does!"

In patch of moonlight, perched upon a gnarled root of the ancient tree, sat Truffen.

"Ah," sighed Sir Richard. "Kind friend, good mother, there's comfort in the mere sight of thee! . . . there's a devil abroad . . . a thing desperate and without mercy—listen, friends!" And he spoke briefly and to the point, nor did either utter word until his narration was ended.

"Here," sighed Truffen, "here is the bloody prophecy I foretold him! Ay, and here shall be more blood unless—bead closer!" Then Truffen began to whisper, quick-speaking and very softly: Sir Richard nodded and smiled grimly.

"And yet," said he, "there is ever a possibility I may be taken."

"Thou shalt come w' us this night and sleep secure."

"Nay, Truffen, for though I lay secure, sleep I could not—knowing the threat to my lady's growth hourly and I must be at hand. And now God bless thee, Truffen, noble friend!"

So saying, he arose, turned and strode away, but, glancing back, saw old Truffen gazing after him with troubled eyes.

And now, having much to think upon, he went at leisure pace, lost in uneasy speculation of what the pregnant future should bring forth. . . . Another 24 hours and, if all went as planned, his innocence would be established, his honour vindicated. . . .

He halted of a sudden, shivering violently, for a chilly breath seemed all about him, deadly cold yet intensely vital. . . . He stared wide-eyed and found he stood upon a broad familiar path, dim yet dreadful to memory: for it was by this path Julian had walked to his death. A place of horror at such hour as this, and cold—cold with this dreadful, clammy chill that suggested Julian's very self. Sir Richard stood appalled, striving to hold fast his slipping reason. . . . Suddenly leaves rustled behind him and, whirling about, Sir Richard saw a vague face, caught at shadowy arm, missed, staggered, was smitten to his knees, sank under a hail of blows—to be trampled, buffeted inert and so, dragged most unheroically away.

Taken captive—with vindication so near! Continue the story with tomorrow's chapter.

A grim struggle in the pool—the gypsy dragged Despard to safety.

pool. . . . Upon the bank crouched two who peered at these waters that swirled, rippled, lapped sleepily and, growing placid again, showed nothing to mar their deathly serenity—save bubbles that rose and vanished. . . .

A long, breathless moment and then the watchers turned from the ghastly silence of that murderous pool and fled in headlong career, but, even while the sound of their flight yet filled the air, these sullen waters echoed to a second hollow plunge. . . .

And, after some while, above the grassy verge rose a desperate hand that clutched and clawed until it had secured firm hold and up—up from these merciless waters struggled a dripping, gasping "Lape" that dragged behind it a heavy burden.

And there began a bitter contest between Death and Life, a battle that raged, grimly unremitting until at last was a faint sigh, a choking gasp, a groan. . . .

Thus then, outstretched upon mossy turf, battered and all but drowned, Captain Despard came back to life and, opening vague eyes, stared up at a very strange face whose dragged, gypsy-seeming hair was oddly bunched upon one ear.

"How are you now?"

"Alive!" gasped the captain. "Thanks to you. Your wig! Take care or . . . you'll lose it, my dear Goyford!"

At this, though still somewhat spent with his recent exertions, Sir Richard contrived to chuckle. "Thanks!" said he. "Thanks, my dear Archer."

The captain drew a deep breath and closed pain-dimmed eyes. "So you . . . you know, then?"

"Ay . . . 'tis ugly blow you took here!"

"Bludgeon work. . . . And have you—Goyford, have you told . . . her?"

"No! . . . But rouse, man, rouse—can you walk?"

"I can . . . try. Yet first, Goyford, pray suffer me . . . a word. . . . I am, nay, I was 'Captain Archer.' 'Twas but for one year a . . . black year, I confess. I—I have striven to forget and . . . win back to honor, but . . . Julian surprised my secret, and now . . . you. Sir, I do most truly love—her. Therefore, may I beg . . . you will not tell her the truth until . . . I am gone. . . ."

"Tush, sir!" exclaimed Sir Richard. "Why waste time? As for your secret, 'tis your own and shall remain so."

It Costs No More AT STOCK & CORDTS

THE money-saving values you expect to find at "sales" advertised as "greatest in the world" "under-selling everybody," "prices cut to the bone" are available to you every day in the year at Stock & Cordts. And our everyday prices never fear the competition of so-called "sales."

A low price may arouse your interest but if quality is lacking—take care. Furniture that is "too cheap" in price is "too cheap" in quality, no matter who sells it. Good furniture cannot be bought at the price of the cheap. Below a certain price good furniture cannot be made or sold.

In this store you will find suites and occasional pieces made by the most reputable manufacturers and shown here exclusively. All are marked sanely at prices at which we can afford to sell and you can afford to pay.

Get August sales prices, then visit our store—look around and compare them with our prices. You'll like our merchandise—our prices—and our way of doing business, we feel sure of that. Won't you come in some time?

PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH PICNIC WEDNESDAY

Wednesday the St. Paul Lutheran church and Sunday school will hold an annual picnic at Kingston Point park. Parents and friends are asked to bring the children to the park in the morning. The ladies will have food for sale for the noon and evening meals. Games and amusements will be provided. In case of rain shelter can be found on the grounds. It is planned to provide arolley-car from the park at 1 o'clock for those having no conveyance. Tickets of admission can be obtained from the committee at the gate.

KILLED WHILE TRYING TO SAVE HER PET DOG

Cornwall, Aug. 4.—The body of Mrs. Lillian S. Derosier, 50 years old, who was killed Sunday while trying to save the life of her pet dog, was taken to her home in Brian street, the Bronx, Monday. Mrs. Derosier was walking along the highway when the dog ran across the road in front of an automobile. The woman rushed after the animal to rescue it and was herself struck by the machine driven by Harry Winter, twenty-seven, of Jersey City. She died of a fractured skull.

'Whoopie' Marriage Mill Grinds Tears In Chicago

Judge H. E. Kemp of Crown Point, Ind., not only marries them but sells them rings, as shown by the boxes around him. Beatrice Kemmett Debus of Chicago (left) married after a frolicsome evening she had been married at Crown Point, and she regrets it greatly.

By EDWARD STANLEY (Associated Press Feature Writer)

Crown Point, Ind., Aug. 4.—The royal road to romance takes a detour here to the divorce courts.

Crown Point, only 40 swift miles away as Cupid flies, is Chicago's Gretina Green.

Thousands of "whoopie brides" elope here yearly and take solemn vows that they later decide they didn't mean. Sometimes they can't even remember the words.

Then they scamper for the court of domestic relations to weep and have it declared no contest.

Maybe they wed on a dare, maybe it's a true romance, but often it's the gay climax of a "whoopie party." That's why they're given the sobriquet, "whoopie brides."

The marriage license bureau is an important industry here, and has been for years. One judge retired as early as 1915 with a fortune estimated at $50,000. He had married more than 15,000 couples.

Judge H. E. Kemp has married more than twice that number. He ties the knot for about 4,000 a year. In his "marriage parlor," just across the street from the courthouse, where the license is issued without quibbling and a gaudy "certificate" urged upon the couple for a dollar, Kemp has thousands of tiny plush-lined boxes, cocoons that have hatched many a matrimonial venture. They used to hold wedding rings.

K. OF C. HUDSON VALLEY CHAPTER MEETING AUG. 25.

Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, is expected to send a large delegation to the Hudson Valley Chapter meeting at Cornwall on Sunday, August 25, when matters pertaining to the Holy Spirit Burse and the welfare of Hudson valley councils will be taken up. A baseball game will be one of the entertaining features of the day, which is planned to furnish several enjoyable events.

Cornwall Council is working hard to make the Chapter meeting a real success. The Cornwall Knights expect one of the largest attendances ever present at a gathering of the kind, so are preparing to cater to the great number of visiting fraternal brothers.

The Cornwall Council is asking that all Knights in the Hudson Valley take a hand in boosting the mass meeting. Tickets for the baseball game to be played at the New York Military Academy grounds in Cornwall between Cornwall Council team and the nine of Trinity Council, No. 445, K. of C., are being sent to all the cities along the Hudson. It is hoped that the Knights will buy them up and thus help towards the success of the feature.

Members of Kingston Council will travel to Cornwall by automobile to attend the meeting which was originally scheduled for Sunday, August 18, but was extended a week to permit Florence Council of Poughkeepsie to go.

The Maids and Matrons' Club have donated a total of $100 to the Sarah Hull Hallcock library fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Westervelt Clarke and two daughters and Miss Rachel Clarke expect to leave this week on the Horticultural Society trip to the fruit sections of Virginia and adjoining states.

Mr. Edward Young, president of the Farm Bureau Federation, has been a business visitor in Syracuse and Ithaca the past week.

Members of the Friends' Church attended the quarterly meeting at Tilton on Saturday.

The annual meeting of the Milton W. C. T. U. will be held at the Community House Friday evening, August 9. Reports and dues will be received.

COULDN'T SLEEP OR EAT LOST STRENGTH BECAUSE OF SEVERE STOMACH DISTRESS

Local Man Relates How This Trouble Affected Entire Health, Nu-Erb Was First Medicine To Help Him.

Dr. French's Nu-Erb, the great herbal medicine which was recently introduced in Kingston by the Nu-Erb man at McBride's Drug Store is growing daily in popularity because of its certain action on the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Every day some person is telling how it corrects digestive disorders, strengthens weak kidneys, rouses a lazy liver, relieves constipation, quiets the nerves or drives rheumatic aches and pains from the system in many cases after everything else had failed. For example here is the enthusiastic story of Mr. William Post, R. D. No. 1, Kingston, N. Y., who is a well known employee of the Cornell Steamboat Co.

"I'd got such terrible pains through my stomach after every meal that they almost doubled me up, this I know was caused by gas formations and fermentation of my food and I also suffered from bloating and this gas pressed up against my heart so that at times it almost took my breath away. I was subject to staggering dizzy spells and at these times everything seemed to go black before my eyes. I slept poorly at night and awakened each morning feeling tired and worn out. I also had a very poor appetite and I was a chronic victim of constipation."

"I tried many of the different advertised remedies and plenty of other medicine that I heard about, but nothing ever helped me to any extent until I started using Nu-Erb. That is only about one month ago, but in that time my stomach has improved so that I am no longer troubled with gas formations, indigestion or those terrible pains. The dizzy spells and floating spots before my eyes have entirely disappeared. Not only that, but this medicine has quieted my nerves, given me a splendid appetite and I sleep soundly all night long. My bowels are more regular as a result of having used Nu-Erb and I am stronger and more energetic in every way. My advice to anyone who suffers from these troubles is to give Nu-Erb a chance to help them."

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall St., is headquarters in Kingston for Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Classified Ads Used to Promote Fraudulent Home Work Schemes

Chicago Firm Sells $2,000-$4,000 Worth of Goods by Postmaster Circular Mailing Scheme.

Not long ago, it seems, the Cunningham Company of Chicago was in need of "local addresses" to use in expanding their rayon underwear business. Classified advertisements were inserted in newspapers and magazines for such workers and a great many people responded. Those who did found to their sorrow that the Cunningham Company was more interested in selling underwear to the "local addresses" than in supplying them with legitimate employment. They complained to the postal authorities. A fraud order was issued and all mail addressed to the company was returned to the senders with the words "Fraudulent Mail to this address returned by order of Postmaster General" stamped across it.

This scheme is known as the circular mailing proposition which has frequently been advertised under "Help Wanted" classifications as a legitimate employment offer. Using classified ads the Cunningham Company stated that from $15 to $50 could be made addressing envelopes at home in spare time. Those interested were to write for particulars.

Those who answered these advertisements were told that they had written just at the right time because a "local address" was needed in that territory at once. The letter then told of the advantages of making money on the side and outlined the superior claims of Cunningham "rayon silk lingerie." All the applicant was required to do was address and mail circular letters. As an evidence of good faith, Cunningham required that his workers send in $1 as part payment on some piece of Cunningham underwear, the balance of from $1.95 to $3.50 to be paid when the underwear was delivered along with the circulars. This letter was accompanied by an application blank. Nothing is said in this letter as to how the $10-$50 weekly is to be made by the applicant.

As soon as Cunningham received the remittance he immediately dispatched the underwear together with about 15 circulars with a letter in which it was stated that remuneration would depend entirely upon the volume of orders resulting from the circulars sent out by the "local address." This was quite different from the original tenor of Cunningham's previous communication which, up to that point, would have led any reasonable person to believe that the remuneration was to be based upon the volume of addressing.

Post Office inspectors who investigated this concern learned that between $3,000 and $4,000 worth of lingerie had been foisted upon victims of the scheme by means of the representations given by the company. Only $12 had been paid to "addressers" and no factory was operated by the Cunningham Company.

It was therefore evident to the

Banner Week End At Woodstock

(By F. G. George)

The week end in the Woodstock art colony was marked by more than the usual attractions in the theatre, art galleries, and concert hall. August is the vacation month, and devotees are coming to the famous Catskill mountain art colony town, this time of the season.

Beginning with Saturday, the local Art Association opened the gallery for a new exhibition, and many visitors enjoyed the third exhibit of their season. The show is quite lively, containing a variety of subjects by well known artists.

In addition to the performance of "The Show Off" at the Maverick Theatre both Saturday and Sunday nights, the Woodstock Playhouse on Saturday night, ended a three-day run of "The Night Hawk," with Jane Meredith delighting the audience by her acting as "Miss Buck" in this metropolitan play.

Jane Meredith had a more difficult part in last week's play than in previous presentations at the Playhouse, and she performed exceedingly well. Next in line for popular acclaim was Thelma Paige, whose winsome and charming character as Agnes Merrill, delighted the reviewers. Richard Abbott had the leading male role, which was acted with professional manner.

Among the celebrities at the colony over the week end was Jeanne Eagles, star actress in New York's performances of "It Ain't." Miss Eagles was feted at a party Saturday night given by Madame Desti, at her Maverick summer home.

On Sunday afternoon, the Maverick Music Concert drew a large attendance. Inez Carroll played piano, Gerald Kunz the viola, and George Barrere played flute. The program was from LeClair, Brahms, and Debussy. In the last part, tris from Debussy, a pastorella with muted viola and flute was never more beautifully simple than when played by these three musicians. The piano blended perfectly, too, in the ensemble peculiarly suited to the environment of the Maverick woods and rustic theatre. The finale gave the dash and power of the piano's bass register, gave the flute and viola a chance to deliver music so powerful as to portend and forecast some great event to come; it was a brave ending.

for the chamber music, and the audience applauded heartily and long.

Announcement was made by Mr. Barrere that next week's program at the Maverick Music Hall would include Alexander Blumstein, back from engagements at Chattanooga, N. Y., in quartet arrangements from Beethoven. It was also announced by Harvey White that Hans Harker, pianist from the Paramount Theatre, N. Y., would give a recital of request numbers at the Maverick Music Hall on Wednesday evening, August 7.

The village green at Woodstock was packed with automobiles throughout the week end, hotels and inns were crowded, taverns and tea shops were kept busy with extra guests. At the colony, the restaurant and inn recently opened by Mr. Newgold, visitors came and went, either to enjoy the new place, or to try the new cafeteria open in the basement of the new establishment. Artists were heard to declare that this modern cafeteria was a "good-bend" for small purses, and Art forced one to patronize food counters that patronized the artist's pocketbook.

Other art exhibitions include The Little Art Gallery, where is showing for the balance of this week, an exhibition of oil paintings by Boyer (1884-1928) and the fine collection of Winslow Homer. Mr. Gonzales has painted a number of marine paintings that are excellent. Otto Bierhals is having a private exhibit in his new studio next the Woodstock Garage to which visitors are welcomed each day this present week.

Impression of Fear

The origin of fear is often traceable to some incident in early life. Thus, a boy was full of courage and fond of fighting up to the age of ten, when his mother saw him as he was returning home after a combat. Horrified at his appearance, she fainted. He feared to fight again, and believed he was, as other boys called him, a coward.—Exchange.

GOOD WILL GOOD WORDS FOR A FINE CAR

THE good opinion of Oldsmobile that is invariably expressed when the discussion turns to motor cars is conclusive evidence of the increasing public favor this fine car is winning throughout America.

Such priceless good will can be achieved in only one way—the continued satisfaction of thousands of owners over a long period of time.

This satisfaction and enthusiasm on the part of Oldsmobile owners have been expressed time and again—not only from one neighbor to another—but in the multitude of written messages which flow constantly into the Oldsmobile factory.

Oldsmobile owners are loyal because they know that Oldsmobile is loyal to its owners. The exhilaration of Oldsmobile performance—its brilliant speed, power, and getaway—is theirs to enjoy, day after day. The roomy comfort of Oldsmobile's bodies by Fisher—the restful riding ease provided by wide, deep-cushioned seats and four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers—the luxury of richly furnished interiors add infinite pleasure to their motoring. And above all, they have absolute confidence in their cars—confidence that is born of months and years of faithful service.

Yet these splendid qualities—and the additional advantages of handling ease, parking ease, and operating economy—are available in Oldsmobile at a remarkably low price.

Good will—good words—and universal stamp opinion unmistakably stamp this Oldsmobile as a fine car—an automobile that will serve you long and well. Study the facts yourself. Drive the car and examine its many points of merit. Make critical comparisons. And then you will agree, with thousands of owners, that Oldsmobile has fully earned this widespread popularity.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

PRINCESS LINES AND THE RAISED GIRLIE REMOVED

New York—The Paris fashion show, accompanied by the great crop of sensational fashions, has been a fact and not a theory since the fact. Reductions in the waistline and fashion is important only as to its bearing on the new trend.

The "new" raised girlie is bound to be continued. Women are pleased with themselves in their skirts and are delighted with the idea of having their waists raised.

Transparent Velvet Forms a Frock With a Molded Bodice Line Accentuated by the Strapping of Fabric Which Extends From the Decolletage to the Hemline. An Elongated Petticoat Applied Just at the Sides and Back Follows the Back-Dipping Line of the Skirt. A Chiffon Spray in Purple Astor, the Color of the Frock, Is Piped at the Side Front.

(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild)

be a material drop in day time skirts is a matter of speculation, but for evening, skirts can hardly be longer than they are at the moment. Longer day time skirts have shorter waists, according to some authorities, and we have the raised girlie substituted in the place of evening wraps. They are interesting when they are to be compared with the old.

The air is full with rumors concerning a revival of the "old" and "new" as well as a preference for "new" and "old" in colorings among women. It may be mentioned all the same, that the "old" and "new" are still the same, but with the revival of the "old" and "new" in colorings, purple, green, particularly timely.

Princess lines of higher waistline are the general trend to silhouette. One takes with the proverbial grain of salt that corsets will be necessary. Corsets of some sort no doubt will be worn, but that they will bear a marked resemblance to all fashion types seems unlikely.

SAMSONVILLE

Samsonville Aug. 5.—Mrs. Irvin Barringer and son, Earl, returned to their home from the Benedictine Hospital on Friday night. Earl, better known to his friends as "Tinker," is getting along very nicely.

Florence Barringer spent one day last week at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Otis Barringer.

Genevieve McLean is expected to come home in a few days from the Benedictine, where she underwent an operation.

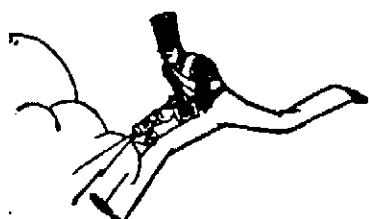

Mrs. Neva Barringer of Palentown spent Tuesday at the Bremer home.

Watch for the date of the Sunday school picnic which will be announced later.

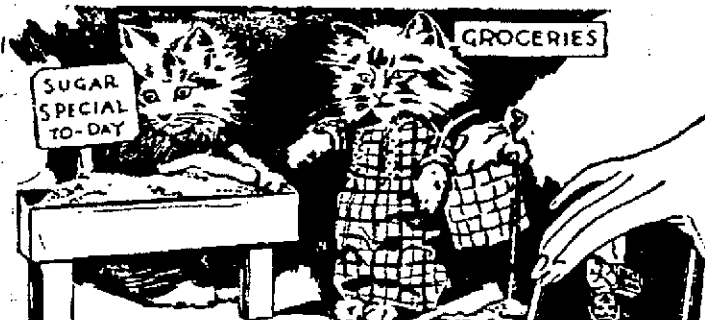

Mrs. Ray Allen visited her sister at the hospital in Kingston on Saturday last.

Vera Barringer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Barringer, underwent an operation on Saturday afternoon at the Benedictine Hospital for appendicitis. She was taken ill in Kingston and was taken to Dr. Bush's office and he ordered an operation.

The average American automobile owner paid $16.52 in gasoline tax last year, statistics show.

To guard their lovely skin —both at home and in their studio dressing rooms—

9 out of 10 screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap

LOVELY skin—soft and smooth and clear! Without it, no girl is really charming, no matter how attractive her features.

"It's impossible to over-emphasize the lure of smooth, beautiful skin—it's the greatest of all, I think," says John Ford, Fox director—and voices the experience of 39 leading motion picture directors.

"I don't believe any girl has ever become a screen star without 'studio skin'—skin that is smooth and lovely without make-up," he continues. "All popular stars possess this charm."

Unless a screen star's skin appears flawless under the glare of the huge incandescent "spot" lights, she cannot hope to capture the enthusiasm of the great movie audiences.

It is for this reason that 442 of the 451 important actresses in Hollywood, including 11 stars, use Lux Toilet Soap. It keeps their skin so exquisitely smooth! And all the great film studios have made this white, daintily fragrant soap the official soap in their dressing rooms.

The next time you see Lois Moran or Fay Wray or Irene Rich in a close-up, notice how smooth Lux Toilet Soap keeps her skin.

You will be charmed with this delightful soap, too. It is made just as the finest French soaps are, and lathers generously even in the very hardest water. Buy several cakes—this very day.

She says: "Even the finest French soaps could not leave my skin more wonderfully smooth than Lux Toilet Soap does—it's perfectly delightful."

Lois Moran

FAY WRAY, beautiful Paramount star, has exquisite skin. She says: "It is imperative for a star to give the utmost care to her skin. The cleverest make-up will not deceive the glaring test of the close-up. Lux Toilet Soap gives the skin a wonderful smoothness."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—Easing of money rates checked a sharp decline in today's stock market. Prices of many active shares were carried down one to five points in the morning, selling movement but most of the losses were cut in half, or better, and a sprinkling of issues carried 2 to 6 point above yesterday's final quotations in the early afternoon recovery. Trading was fairly heavy in volume.

Early selling was inspired largely by a further break in Middle Western Utilities Stocks on the Chicago Stock Exchange, the high renewal rate on call loans and predictions of an increase in the Bank of England rate on Thursday.

Wall street recalled that the disastrous breaks in prices on the New York Stock Exchange in March, 1926, and again in the spring of this year were preceded by sharp reactions in Chicago and many traders, fearing a repetition of these experiences, sold stocks heavily.

Pool operations were resumed with increased vigor in a fairly wide assortment of public utility, merchandising, copper, food and motor shares. American Water Works was marked up 6 points, Westinghouse Electric first preferred 5, May Department Stores 4 1/2, Worthington Pump and Machinery Works 3, North Company Federal Light and Traction and Diamond Match 3 to 4 points. Hershey Chocolate crossed 112 to a new high.

Coppers gathered strength on reports of an increased foreign demand for the red metal. Anaconda, Kennecott and Greene Cananea all selling a point or more above yesterday's final quotations by early afternoon.

Quotations given by Parker McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, Stuyvesant Hotel.

The SANDMAN STORY

ABOUT THE LUCKY DUCK

"QUACK, quack, quack-quack," said Mrs. Duck. "I never knew how lucky I was until yesterday."

"I always thought I was a busy duck, but I'm not nearly so busy as Little Sadie is."

"One of Sadie's friends came around to see her yesterday and she said: 'Come on, Sadie, come on out and play!'"

"That Sadie called back and said: 'I can't come for an hour, anyway. I've the beds to make and I promised to help wash the dishes.' 'Well, I thought to myself, I'm a lucky duck. I don't have to make beds and I don't have to wash dishes. Of course I would have a nice place to wash them in, here in the brook any more. She has been retired. 'Bessie is allowed to wander anywhere she likes around the farm.' 'She is a wonderful horse, for she goes down the paths and the walks, but never steps on the lawn or the grass anywhere except in the meadow. 'The farmer adores her and all the members of the farmer's family adore her."

"But, just the same, I think I'm a very lucky duck. It gives me delight to think how lucky I am. 'Now, I must go down to see Miss White Duck at the end of the pond. 'I said I'd have a drink of brook water and a bite of bug with her this afternoon. Were you invited?'"

"Yes, yes, indeed," said Miss Duck. "I'd almost forgotten. I was so interested in what you were saying."

"Ah, you flatter me, but it is most delightful, too. Well, I suppose we must be off."

So the two ducks started for the end of the pond and there Miss White Duck was waiting for them.

"Quack, quack, good-afternoon, Duck ladies," she said.

"Good-afternoon, quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck.

"Good-afternoon, quack, quack," said Miss Duck.

"Horrid weather we've been having lately, quack, quack, is it not so?" said Miss White Duck.

"Terrible," said Mrs. Duck. "Quack, quack, terrible."

"Horrible, quack, quack, horrible," said Miss Duck.

"And yet, come to think of it, it hasn't been so very bad," said Miss White Duck.

"No, come to think of it, it might have been much worse, quack, quack," said Mrs. Duck.

"True," said Miss Duck. "Quack, quack, it might have really been bad."

They had their brook water and several insects aplenty, and after they had chattered some more about the water and the insects Mrs. Duck said she'd have to be getting home to her family.

"Such a lovely time as I've had; thank you so much, dear Miss White Duck."

"I, too, have had a beautiful time," said Miss Duck.

And Miss White Duck said: "Quack, quack, it has been such a pleasure to see you both. Do call soon again. Just drop in any time. Any time at all."

"Ah, yes," said Mrs. Duck, as she reached her special home section. "It is my delight that I am a duck. I have such a ducky time, quack, quack."

"Then It Is Much Nicer to Live in a Brook."

brook, and I could use pleasant weeds as dish rags, but still I'm glad I don't bother with all such things."

"I agree with you, quack, quack, quack-quack," said Miss Duck.

"Ah, yes," said Mrs. Duck. "It is so much simpler to have no dishes at all, but just eat as one goes along."

"Now, when a cow is taken to some other place and has to go in a wagon and then on a train in a stupid small place, after having been in the lovely meadow, I say to myself: 'Poor cow. You've known better days.'"

"I've seen the trains go by the station at the far end of my brook."

"And I've thought to myself how lucky I was, not to be a cow. Then it's much nicer to live in a brook than anywhere else—even than in a palace."

"Of course, Bessie, the farmer's old horse, is very lucky. You know Bessie is quite old and doesn't have to bother with all such things."

"I agree with you, quack, quack, quack-quack," said Miss Duck.

Why We Do What We Do

By M. E. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE ENJOY THE COMICS

IF WE do not enjoy the comic strips in the daily newspapers there is something wrong with us. We should consult a doctor at once. Comics serve a very useful purpose in the lives of busy people.

We like comics because they are so deliciously absurd. A little shaver no bigger than a minute is forever making wise cracks. Some poor devil is in hot water all the time.

The comics reveal to us the absurdity of taking life too seriously. We recognize in them certain fundamental truths that apply to our own lives. These comics are really caricatures. We see ourselves and our neighbors. We get a big kick out of picturing some awkward friend of ours in the predicament of the comic actor. We enjoy sympathizing with ourselves in the perpetual hard-luck role. The very exaggerations bring out these traits all the more forcibly.

Most of the comics involve a story. The story part is in itself fascinating. It arouses our curiosity. We are anxious to know what happens next in the love episodes of our mock hero, the extent of hard luck he may have or how he is coming out with his ridiculous business adventure.

The great celebrities of the more popular comics are better known than many historical characters. If we should run into any of them on the street we would recognize them at once.

The comics furnish a real outlet for what they are—a lot of nonsense mixed up with a great deal of homely truth, a caricature of our mistreated selves and our ridiculous neighbors, a little relaxation in the midst of a busy day with its cares and worries, and all the too sober realities.

Tea Drinking

In Russia it is customary to place a lump of sugar in the mouth and let tea trickle through it. A newly married couple in Burma exchange a mixture of tea leaves steeped in oil on their wedding day as an omen of matrimonial bliss. In Japan every artisan or laborer going to work takes his rice box of lacquered wood, a kettle, a tea can, a teapot, a cup and his chop sticks.

JOHN KINGSBURY TO TALK ON WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock August 7 there will be held the third of the Library Tea Talks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Chichester.

The talk for this special afternoon will be given by John Kingsbury who lived in Serbia.

Mr. Kingsbury is director of the Mulbank Foundation which works throughout the world in the interests of public health. He has a long list of achievements in public service, having been commissioner of Public Welfare during the administration of John Purroy Mitchell. He went to Serbia with the A. E. F. and was decorated by the Serbian government with one of the highest military orders given to the Whites.

Mr. Kingsbury also received the order of St. Sava who is the patron saint of Serbia, a non-military decoration. After the war the French Government gave him the Reconnaissance Française for his service to France. In America he won the medal of The American Institute of Social Science.

Like many men whose public work is exacting and taxing, Mr. Kingsbury has a hobby. It is mushrooms. Around Woodstock he is known as "The Mushroom Man." He says he would rather talk about mushrooms than on Serbia, and so his subject for the Library Tea Talk will be "Mushrooms." He will also answer questions about Serbia if any wish to ask them.

A large attendance is expected at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chichester for Wednesday afternoon for these Library Teas are very popular with the public at Woodstock.

First Concrete Poured by New Orleans Priest

Toward the end of the Nineteenth century a French paragon made basins by pouring concrete around a network of iron rods, and until very recently that procedure had been credited with having originated the idea of reinforced concrete.

Not until the summer of 1928 was the claim disputed. Then it was discovered that in 1852 a Jewish priest of New Orleans had anticipated him. A church on Iberville street, built in that year, was demolished. It had been erected on land reclaimed from aypress swamp, and when it was torn down the construction of its foundation walls was lost.

The priest, acting as his own architect, had poured a concrete of crushed oyster shells and bricks around strong iron bars, running from top to bottom of the walls, and held in place with wrought-iron hoops.

No written record of it was left, yet that idea is fundamental to the modern skyscraper.—Elías Bent in World's Work.

Moon's Light Believed to Affect Mentality

There seems to be a very generally accepted belief that the moon exerts a very potent influence upon the mentality of some persons. Writing in the British Medical Journal, Dr. E. Gerald Stanley says that the colossal upheaval of the waters of the earth—the tides—suggests terrifying possibilities of the moon's effect on human actions.

Men in Central Africa declare they have suffered from headaches as a result of moonshine, and some make a practice of wearing a pitch helmet when going out at night.

In the Middle East exposure to the rays of the moon is said to cause nightmare as well as headaches, and in the Far East a morning "glück head" is added to these symptoms. In Burma there is a belief that when the insane suffer from mental storms these correspond to the phases of the moon.

Changing Signs

It is suggested that the way things are going now, some bond houses may change the signs on the doors to read "Stock and Bond Brokers," which recalls the story of the man who opened a bucket shop in the West.

"What kind of a sign do you want on your door?" asked the sign painter engaged to do the work.

"Oh, just John Smith, Broker," replied the bucket shopper.

"Why don't you make it 'Banker and Broker?'" suggested the enterprising sign painter.

"How much would it cost?" inquired Smith.

"About $2," replied the painter.

"Go to it," instructed Broker Smith.

"Who wouldn't be a banker for $2?"—Wall Street Journal.

Branding Sheep

Sheep are branded with paint and not with hot irons as cattle are. The fleece grows out so that hot-iron brandings would be covered up. Sheep must be branded every time they are fleeced. The branding of sheep is more common in the range countries than in the farm states, as sheep are usually kept under fence on farms, and there is not much need of branding. Special branding paint should be used instead of just any kind of tar or barn paint, so as to reduce to a minimum the trouble of scouring the wool. Manufacturers prefer that the brand be placed on sheep where the wool is of the least value, such as on top of the rump.

Great Snakes!

Pudden's spider is descended from spiders which dwell up our way and learnt the trick from the carpet snakes.

Old ma carpet snake stands on her tail straight on end. Her young 'uns climb up the old girl and dispose themselves at intervals in a first-class imitation of a dry shrub. As birds settle on this inviting roost they are affectionately embraced by the wriggler, borne to earth and devoured at leisure.

There was a dickens of a row when our dog chased a couple of cats up the outfit.—Sydney Bulletin.

Peculiar Mill Stones

Before England became an industrial country, and when the villages were self-supporting, mill stones were used by the villagers to grind their corn. A remarkable feature of the stones was that the surface of the lower stone was carved with a fixed harp pattern of hollows and ridges, disposed in a certain direction between the axle and the perimeter of the stone, so as to obtain uniformity of grinding and regulate the flow of flour to the edge.—Detroit News.

Valentine Messenger

Here is what President Wilson said was the best negro war farm he had heard during his stay in Paris. It is quoted by J. F. Essary in "Covington Washington." A group of negro soldiers were in a front line trench on the eve of an attack. A white officer approached one of them and asked: "What would you do, Jim, if you suddenly saw the whole German cavalry coming straight at you?" "What would I do, boss?" repeated Jim. "Why, I sure would spread the news through France."

Rest Periods Effective

Practical experiments in factories and mercantile establishments show that under controlled conditions a spell of work broken by a short rest is more effective than an unbroken spell of the same length.

Outstanding, by Any Measure of Value

(Two door Sedan at factory, special equipment extra)

BECAUSE it represents our earnest endeavor to give you more than an average dollar's worth of real value for every dollar invested—we ask you to make a critical inspection of Model 612 before selecting any car in or near its price class.

Lift the hood and see the big 62-horsepower motor with a seven-bearing crankshaft. Not only in the motor, but all through the 612 (which weighs 3,125 pounds, ready for the road) you will find extra size, extra weight, and extra strength. Experience has convinced us that every pound of this greater weight is essential to fine performance, comfort, long life and safety.

The four wheel hydraulic, internal expanding brakes are larger than usual in a car at this price, and fully protected from dirt and water. Service and emergency brakes are entirely separate—to provide the safety to which we believe every motor car buyer is entitled.

Examine the 612, the completeness of its equipment and appointments—then make your own comparisons.

AUGUST the Sardonx

Augustus, great and good emperor of Rome, has had this month, which brings good fortune to all, named for him. Its birth-stone, the sardonx, is an omen of true wedded love.

Fittingly enough, the rings for those born in this month are named for the first pair of true lovers, Adam and Eve.

Cordially yours,
